

Home of the Brave

The words home of the brave are in American symbols such as the Star Spangled Banner. These words ring with truth for the American people and its veterans. Home of the Brave means, where the men and women of great courage and heart are able to live their lives with honor, respect and kindness. Veterans are the people who really make this saying true in every way. They are the ones who have defended our country and have made it what it is today. Without them, the present America would be different in every way. The future generations may not have known how great America was without them. Their courage, honesty and bravery are the guidelines on which this country thrives. Who else would be brave enough to come to the aid of our country? They were willing to cast their fears aside and give this country support. They were willing to sacrifice their lives for this country so that we can all be there today. Veterans and the meaning Home of the Brave go hand and hand. All of us are able to practice our own religion, go to school, have rights and not live in fear, because of veterans bravery. The heart and soul of our country would not exist it without our veterans. Children are safe to play and have a good education because of veterans. They are the reason we say the Pledge of Allegiance everyday and sing the Star Spangled Banner before every sporting event. The American people look to their veterans for wisdom, guidance and teaching. America is truly the home of the brave because of our veterans, without them this land would not be free or home to the brave.
